

Jonathan Curtiss is Director of IT Development for UCLA's Division of Student & Campus Life (S&CL), with technology oversight responsibilities for the following campus departments: recreation, residential life, dean of students, counseling and psychological services, LGBT, legal services, student programming, and the graduate student resource center.

Curtiss is Chair of UCLA's "Get Legal" campaign, which coordinates campus-wide efforts to promote legal acquisition of entertainment as alternative to illegal file sharing. Between 2005 and 2008, Curtiss spearheaded two campaigns promoting legal music services from providers CDigix and Ruckus Entertainment. In February 2010 with industry partner Clicker Media Inc. of Hollywood, Curtiss directed the launch of "UCLA on Clicker", an online video guide pointing students to legal, professionally produced broadcast TV, music videos, web originals, as well as UCLA created programming.

Curtiss also oversees the popular UCLA Student Groups Web Service (<http://www.studentgroups.ucla.edu>) providing free web hosting services to the nearly 1000 UCLA registered student organizations.

Curtiss serves on the advisory board of Bruin Tech, Student Affairs' Information Technology group, and is UCLA's representative to the UC-wide "Legal 2 Share" committee.

Prior to his position at UCLA, Curtiss worked in programming development for CNN, IT operations for Carter Hawley Hale Stores Inc., and was manager of Pasadena and Rolling Hills Estates Scandia Down shops. Curtiss received his B.A. in History from UCLA, and holds certifications in systems analysis and systems management. Curtiss lives in Sherman Oaks with his girlfriend Frieda and dog Kelly.
